

Vietnam's TPP Ratification Plan, 2017 Minimum Wage, Members' Night, Food Safety

FEATURES

Vietnam's process of TPP ratification and implementation legislation

After the April Monthly Government [Cabinet] Meeting, Resolution 33/NQ-CP, May 9, 2016, para. 4 explained Vietnam's process of TPP ratification and implementation legislation, which could take up to two years from the Feb 4, 2016 signing date. There will be a proposal for an omnibus TPP implementation bill, "... reported to the Government [Cabinet] at the regular meeting in December 2016. The Prime Minister signs the Proposal before submitting to the President to consider and decide the submission of the Proposal to the National Assembly" for review, consideration, and ratification.

Vietnam's 2017 Minimum Wage Proposal

The proposed Minimum Wage Adjustment for 2017, the fourth since the establishment of the National Wage Council under the revised Labour Code of 2012, is an average increase of 7.3%, down from 12.4% in 2016. It will be submitted to the Government for discussion and approval at the next regular meeting, scheduled for September, and go into effect on Jan 1, 2017.

Vietnam looks to revise apparel sector strategy for more growth with TPP

Vietnam's export value for textiles and apparel was targeted to hit $20 billion by 2020, but exports already surpassed $27 billion in 2015 and are expected to reach $31 billion by the end of 2016. Between 2010 and 2015, growth in the garment sector has been up 15 percent per year.

Think You Bought Red Snapper? Don't Be So Sure

When the environmental group Oceana conducted a large study of the issue three years ago, the results were shocking. Scientists performed DNA tests on more than 1,200 samples from nearly 700 different stores and restaurants in 21 states. One out of three fish were mislabeled, in violation of Food and Drug Administration regulations, and the numbers were even worse in big cities such as New York, Los Angeles and Boston.

News and Issues

TPP is coming: [Draft] Statement of Administrative Action submitted to Congress

The White House put Congress on notice that it will be sending lawmakers a bill to implement the Trans-Pacific Partnership agreement - a move intended to infuse new energy into efforts to ratify the trade pact.

TPP Agreement Implementation Act and [Draft] Statement of Administrative Action

This Statement of Administrative Action is submitted to the Congress in compliance with section 106 (a)(1)(E)(ii) of the Bipartisan Congressional Trade Priorities and Accountability Act of 2015 ("Trade Priorities Act") and accompanies the implementing bill for the free trade agreement , known as the Trans-Pacific Partnership Agreement. The bill approves and makes statutory changes strictly necessary or appropriate to implement the Agreement.

Food Safety: TraceVerified provides traceability for food products

Dr. Nguyen Thi Hong Minh is perhaps one of the most interesting and qualified foodtech entrepreneurs you'll meet in Vietnam. A seafood processing engineer by trade, she got her PhD in political economy and was eventually appointed as the Deputy Minister of Fisheries to head up food safety and fishery exports in Vietnam.

Textile giant Texhong is charging ahead in Vietnam, despite TPP uncertainties

For Texhong Textile Group, even as uncertainty looms over the free trade pact, the company is firmly committed to further expansion in its southern neighbor. Texhong, one of the world's largest yarn suppliers, has been aggressively building up production capabilities in TPP signatory Vietnam. Founder and Chairman Hong Tianzhu has said one of the main intentions of investing there is to deal with the trade agreement. But even without the TPP, the competitiveness of the Vietnam operation "is very strong, among all Southeast Asian nations and even compared to Chinese production bases."

Administration readies one last push for TPP in lame duck session

Although the administration's push will begin in September, no vote will occur until after the Nov 8 elections. Just as the White House Democrats and congressional Republicans mostly agree on the economic benefits of trade, they have parallel political interests in delaying debate. Republicans do not want to provoke attacks from their presidential nominee, Donald J. Trump or hurt other Republican candidates. Mr. Obama does not want to make trouble for the Democratic nominee, Hillary Clinton, who has struggled to persuade voters of her sincerity in switching from support of the pact to opposition.

"Country-specific implementation plans ... to develop political support for TPP" - Senator Hatch

"It is essential that the Obama administration work to reach country-specific plans identifying the changes that our trading partners must and will make to their laws, regulations, and practices in order to meet their key TPP obligations. These country-specific implementation commitments would provide a valuable tool for resolving shortcomings and ambiguities in the agreement, while helping to build confidence in the Congress that TPP will be implemented fully and faithfully by our trading partners.

Pokémon Whoa: Reality Game App Creates Unprecedented Risks for Employers

Catch 'em all! PokéMon Go is a mobile game that uses "augmented" reality to create a virtual scavenger hunt. In the quest to catch 'em all, over 15 million people have downloaded the PokéMon Go game since its recent release. Employers have grappled with employees' personal use of electronic devices during work hours since gaming fads such as Candy Crush and Draw Something were released. However, beyond creating a simple distraction in the workplace, the explosion of PokéMon Go subjects employers to potentially costly risks, including worker safety issues, lost productivity, data breach possibilities, and misuse of company resources.

TPP Prospects in the U.S. Congress Lame Duck Session

"Everything in Washington is impossible until it is inevitable," Ambassador Froman said. But House Speaker Paul Ryan said on Aug 4 that TPP won't get a vote in Congress this year because there isn't enough support. He said there is no point in bringing up the TPP after the November elections because he doesn't see how the Obama administration can build enough support for the agreement. Nevertheless, the Administration is making a "whole of government" effort to pass the TPP this year

U.S. Customs and Border Protection

CBP offers classification and valuation assistance program to U.S. exporters

U.S. Customs and Border Protection will provide technical assistance to help U.S. exporters resolve issues involving tariff classification and customs valuation treatment by other customs administrations. There have been cases where, through erroneous or inappropriate application of customs valuation principles or misinterpretation of classification rules by customs services in countries of import of U.S. exports, such actions have acted as non-tariff trade barriers to U.S. goods. These have often given rise to serious disputes and costly appeals. Under the new CBP program, technical assistance may be provided in appropriate cases by CBP's Office of Regulations and Rulings through review of the technical issues and, if appropriate, bilateral consultations with the customs administration involved.
