TPP: no deal in Hawaii, bilateral talks to be resumed

"The sad thing is, it's 98% concluded," Australia's trade minister, Andrew Robb, said as trade ministers prepared to leave on Friday. "While my first reaction was disappointment, I also realized that no deal meant that there wasn't yet a deal that could make it through the U.S. Congress," said a U.S. business stakeholder at the TPP negotiations in Hawaii.

The president of the Dairy Farmers Canada blamed New Zealand for not accepting the offer on the table. "New Zealand is being very obstinate ... Positive TPP impact on Vietnam's textile and apparel sector

As the TPP negotiations near conclusion, both domestic and foreign businesses have begun making upstream investments to take advantage of the preferential treatment that Vietnamese apparel exporters will enjoy under the TPP. Not only will Vietnam's apparel sector gain preferential access to the U.S. market, but it will also be able to capture greater value-added in the supply chain. Tariffs on its apparel exports to the U.S. will eventually drop to near zero from the current 17%.

FDI continues to flow into Vietnam's textile sector

Vietnam's textile and apparel sector continues to be a magnet for FDI. While FDI has fallen in the first six months of 2015, it rose sharply in textiles and apparel. At least $1.2 billion out of $5.58 billion worth of FDI went into the textile sector. Several domestic and foreign-invested cotton projects are rushing to begin operating in anticipation of competing across borders after FTAs go into effect.

India jumps on the TPP bandwagon in Vietnam

It is important for Indian companies to take the initiative on the TPP trade deal, which will offer a boost to Vietnam's textile and apparel industry," said Vinod K. Ladia, chairman of the Synthetic and Rayon Export Promotion Council of India. India is the world's second largest supplier of textile and apparel materials, second only to China, so the FDI also means guaranteed supply for Vietnamese enterprises, according to VITAS.

Textiles and apparel in the TPP end-game

The apparel and retail groups in the "TPP Apparel Coalition" want the following elements in the TPP deal: duty-free treatment for at least 75% of current trade; a minimum 50% duty cut for sensitive products, some "single transformation" rules that would allow duty-free treatment for apparel assembled in TPP countries that use textiles from non-TPP countries; flexibility to revisit the "short supply" list, which would allow exceptions of the "yarn forward" rule requiring that textiles and apparel be made in TPP countries; and enforcement measures that recognise the importance of 'trusted trader' (authorised economic operator) program and sophisticated targeting techniques.

FDA plans to strengthen 3rd-party food inspection rules

Proposed rule and draft guidance supports new program that will help foreign entities demonstrate imports meet food safety guidelines. The FDA published a proposed rule and a draft guidance document to support a new program under the FDA Food Safety Modernisation Act that will help eligible foreign entities demonstrate that imported food meets U.S. food safety requirements.

Jabil to invest an additional $500 million in HCMC's SHTP

U.S. electronics solutions firm Jabil signed an MOU with the HCMC Government to invest an additional $500 million to expand its production facility at Saigon Hi-Tech Park. Jabil, which has 90 facilities in 24 countries, and 180,000 employees worldwide, supplies comprehensive services to electronics and technology companies in a broad range of industries.

2016 Minimum Wage Proposals

The National Wage Council will meet at the end of July to review 2016 minimum wage adjustment plans, before submitting a consolidated proposal to the Government for consideration in October, to be effective January 1, 2015. The NWC members include representatives from the Ministry of Labour, Invalids, and Social Affairs, Vietnam Chamber of Commerce and Industry (VCCI) and Vietnam General Confederation of Labour (VGCL).

Textiles and apparel exports to the U.S. to top $11 billion in 2015

Shipments of Vietnamese garment and textile products to the U.S., the leading export market of Vietnam, are expected to top US$11 billion in value this year, a 12.24 percent year-on-year rise, said an official from the Vietnam Textile and Apparel Association (VITAS). The U.S. is Vietnam's top market, covering about 50 percent of the Southeast Asian country's total exports, the Hai Quan (Customs) news website quoted Dang Phuong Dung, deputy chair of VITAS, as saying last week.

Former President Clinton helped celebrate 20th anniversary

"Vietnam had captured our imagination and taken up so much space in our spirit," he told a crowd of Vietnamese VIPs and members of the foreign community in Vietnam. "And somehow, when our Vietnamese friends finally said they would accept us, and we said we would accept them, we were set free." Clinton singled out for thanks four distinguished veterans who as U.S. senators helped shepherd normalisation: Charles Robb, Max Cleland, John Kerry and John McCain. "They made what I was able to do as president possible."

U.S. to host TPP Ministers meetings in Hawaii Jul 28-31 preceded by a Chief Negotiators meeting Jul 24-27. Australian Trade Minister Andrew Robb said the TPP could be concluded in the "next three to four weeks." The critical thing was for the U.S. president to get trade promotion authority.
